NO APPREHENSION FELT IN BERLIN OVER MARINA

Report From U-Boat Commander Not Expected Until Next Week.

(Special to The Herald)
Berlin, Nov. 2.—There is practically no absence of uneasiness in German officialdom over the sinking of the British freighter Marina and no apprehension is felt that it will cause a rupture of the relations between the United States and this country. There has been no report made by the commander of the U-boat supposed to have sunk the Marina, and then there is a possibility that the sinking was caused by a mine. A report from the submarine commander is not expected before the middle or latter part of next week. While the submarines are in constant touch with their base, they do not make a report only at their home port.

INTEREST IS CENTERED IN EMPIRE STATE

Both Candidates for President Fighting for the 37 Electoral Votes.

(Special to The Herald)
New York, Nov. 2—Interest in the closing battle for the 1916 national campaign is centered today in the Empire state. The leaders of both political parties are fighting for the 37 votes within its borders. President Wilson is winding up his campaign for re-election in the sacred precincts of Tammany Hall, New York City; and Charles E. Hughes, his Republican opponent for the office, is working his way eastward from the western boundary of the state line.

Both candidates are confident that they will take home the vote of the state and confidence fairly goes from both camps. In spite of the confidence the first move of President Wilson as he alighted from the special train which brought him from Buffalo this morning, was to have his secretary and chief lieutenant, James P. Tammey, go into conference with the state leaders at their headquarters. President Wilson, as he was leaving the train for a few hours rest before he commenced his speaking, said that he was "satisfied." He said that his reception at the pier, when he boarded the yacht Mayflower for his rest, and the reception accorded him at Buffalo, has convinced him that he is the choice of the people of New York state.

Mr. Hughes also has his lieutenants in conference with the Republican leaders at the state headquarters. Although both parties and their leaders express themselves as "satisfied." In reality neither of them are entirely satisfied and their conference is based on "hope" with capital letters.

THREE MEN LOSE THEIR LIVES ON SHIPBOARD

Were Overcome By Fulminating Gas That Was Being Used For Fumigating Purposes

(Special to The Herald)

Boston, Mass., Nov. 2—Three men are dead and three others are on the dangerous list as the result of being overcome by fulminating gas on the Leyland liner Devonian at Pier No. 4, East Boston, today. The gas had been used to kill the rats on the vessel and the hatches were fastened down tight. At seven o'clock a gang of carpenters arrived to make repairs to the interior of the vessel. Four men descended into the hold of the vessel and a few minutes afterwards their cries for help attracted the attention of those on deck. Chief Officer Shelby saw at a glance that they were overcome and with others went to the rescue.

The dead are: William E. Sterling, aged 32, of 34 Falcon street; Daniel E. Dempsey, aged 57, of 143 Saratoga street; William L. Sterling, aged 53, of 4 White street. Three others on the dangerous list in the East Boston Relief hospital are: John Shelby, aged 42, chief officer of the Devonian; Edward Huse of Beantown street; Coleman of South Boston.

The Devonian had been fumigated and the hatches were fastened down tight. At seven o'clock a gang of carpenters arrived to make repairs to the interior of the vessel. Four men descended into the hold of the vessel and a few minutes afterwards their cries for help attracted the attention of those on deck. Chief Officer Shelby saw at a glance that they were overcome and with others went to the rescue.

The work of rescue failed until a tackle was rigged and volunteers fastened ropes to the unconscious men and hauled them to the deck.

Automobiles were in waiting and the men were rushed to the relief hospital.

His Men Busy Burning the Bridges, Destroying Railroads and Looting Trains.

(Special to The Herald)
El Paso, Nov. 2—Gen. Salazar and a strong force of Villistas are moving north of Chihuahua City, burning bridges, destroying railroads and looting trains. According to a dispatch from Juarez strong precautions are being taken by the commander of the Carranza forces at Juarez to prevent wholesale desertions to Villa. As the Villistas have approached an average of ten men have deserted daily, and the sentinels have been instructed to fire on all persons seen leaving the post without leave. The presence of Villa north of Chihuahua City indicates that he is now in control of Mexico.

WOMAN FELLS NEGRO CONVICT WITH PADLOCK

Mrs. Godfrey, Wife of Bennington County, Vt., Jail Sheriff, Knocks 200-Lb. Criminal Senseless.

Bennington, Vt., Nov. 2.—Mrs. Frederick Godfrey, wife of the sheriff and keeper of the Bennington county jail, conquered a Negro prisoner named Williams yesterday after he had overpowered the sheriff in a desperate effort to escape. The woman's sole weapons were her courage and a 2 1/2 pound padlock wrench from the door of the jail corridor.

Williams, who weighed nearly 200 pounds had been confined in the jail since October 7, pending trial on a charge of rape, in the town of Manchester. For the past few days he had been surly. When Sheriff Godfrey unlocked and opened the jail corridor door, shortly before noon, Williams seized him about the body and tried to throw him to the floor. Godfrey, a Civil war veteran and of slight build, was unable to break the Negro's hold. He shouted for aid. The jail is located at the end of a long hall on the lower floor of the county building, and Mrs. Godfrey in the kitchen of the jailor's apartments adjoining, was the only person to hear the call.

She ran to the rescue, caught up one of the heavy padlocks, threw her left arm about the Negro's neck and heaved him. At first, she said she did not strike very hard, hoping that a blow or two would make Williams lose his hold on the sheriff. The Negro, however, turned on the woman, knocked the lock from her hand and tried to get possession of it. The woman was too quick. She kicked the lock away, then, after a struggle, regained it.

Then she attacked Williams in earnest, raining blow after blow on his head and face until with one stroke of exceptional deadliness she caught him above the ear. Williams dropped insensible to the cement floor. Mrs. Godfrey then closed and fastened the door and awaited the arrival of her husband who had gone for aid.

San Felice Cigars FIVE CENTS STRAIGHT AND WORTH IT!

Owing to the greatly increased cost of quality tobacco, in fact everything pertaining to high grade cigars, the makers of the San Felice cigar, the Dohse-Wemmer Company, have advanced the selling price to the Jobbers and Dealers, and henceforth this cigar will positively be sold to the consumer at 5 cents straight instead of six for a quarter as previously.

The SAN FELICE is national in its scope and character, having justly attained this eminence through its unequalled excellence. To maintain this unequalled standard of quality, the advance in question is absolutely unavoidable. The generous support of all men using quality cigars is earnestly desired.

COOKING HINTS

When meat or vegetables boil dry, set the vessel in which they are cooking in a pan of cold water. The contents may then be easily removed, leaving the scorched portions in the vessel and there will be no burnt taste, as is the case when this plan is not adopted.

To soften butter, fill a bowl with boiling water until it is thoroughly heated then pour out the water, and place the bowl over the butter. Let it stand for about ten minutes, and you will find your butter soft but not oily.

Save your bags that salt or flour comes in and keep them to put your vegetables in. Wring them out in cold water, put your vegetables in and hang away in a cool place. They also make good dishcloths.

Lemons may be kept a long time without becoming dry if put into a jar of water with a lid. Change the water once a week if the lemons are not to be kept long. When used they will be found quite as firm and juicy as when fresh.

FUNERAL NOTICE

The funeral service of Miss Dorothy E. Fogg will be held at the North church chapel, Middle street, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Only five days before you will be expected to do your duty at the polls.

HOPE GONE FOR MEXICAN PEACE BEFORE NOV. 7

Most Sanguine Plans of Commissioners Dimmed by Announcement of Sec. Lane.

Atlantic City, Nov. 2.—All hope that the American-Mexican joint commission would be able to reach a satisfactory plan for the settlement of the Mexican tangle before the presidential election vanished last night when Secretary Lane acting as spokesman, announced that the commission would adjourn this evening for a week to reconvene here after election.

Commissioners refused to comment on the topics discussed at the session today, but it is known that these left them farther apart rather than nearer to a solution of their problems. It also is known that the tension became so acute that it seemed possible the work of the commission might come to an unsatisfactory close. This was avoided by the use of a little diplomacy, mature consideration after the noon recess making all the members realize that such action could benefit no one.

The commissioners plan to hold two long session today. The afternoon session probably will be so long that it will be impossible for the Mexican members to be present to hear President Wilson in New York and they probably will not leave here until Friday.

WITH THE SPORTS

By Frank G. Menke

New York, Nov. 2.—Speed is the main essential in football success in this generation. Speed and brains count for but little when the foemen are fleet of foot and agile in movement.

This has been demonstrated on a number of occasions during the past two years. But never more forcibly than in that Pitt-Syracuse game which was won 30 to 0 by Pitt. That contest more than all the others that have gone before, forced the realization of the impotency of gridiron speed when it is pitted against speed and trickery.

Syracuse with an unblemished record up to that time went into battle outweighting the Panthers almost ten pounds to the man. Some years ago that advantage would have insured victory for Syracuse. But those days have fitted far far away.

That orange line from tackle to tackle was the bulkiest in captivity. It contained two guards averaging 200 pounds—human mountains. On paper it looked like an impregnable line. But those Panther backs clipped it to shreds. Their great speed enabled them to get a flying start every time they aimed to ram it and when they crushed against it the momentum rolled back the obstacles and let them through for big gains.

In open field it was the same. The Pitt team fast as any in the country today, was down under every punt, while the bulky orange men lumbered along in the rear. When a Panther runner got the ball and escaped the ends it was a certainty that a long gain was before him because the rest of the team was two ponderous to overtake him. The tackles of Syracuse were of but little value in the open field and the guards were almost useless.

And so it was when an Orange man snared a punt. He rarely made a long run-back. The fleet Panthers were down the field and dumping him before the Syracuse interference, slow in its movements, had time to form and give him protection. In every period of that play it became more and more apparent that the days of beef are over—that a team must succeed by speed and not by muscle.

YOUNG TIMBER BEING FORCED TO MARKET.

That young growing timber lots are being driven prematurely upon the market, to the detriment both of the owners and of the town revenues is the contention of the Society for Protection of New Hampshire Forests. A French Canadian farmer in Lebanon had the following experience:

| Assessed | Year | Valuation | Result |
|----------|------|-----------|------------------------|
| 1908 | | $2,800 | |
| 1909 | | 5,300 | |
| 1910 | | 5,800 | |
| 1911 | | 3,500 | |
| 1912 | | 4,600 | Timber partly cut off. |
| 1913 | | 4,000 | |
| 1914 | | 4,000 | Remaining timber cut. |
| 1915 | | 2,200 | |
| 1916 | | 2,200 | |

He was not over-assessed, but under the present system was unable to carry the increased valuation. The town has less taxable timberland and farmers have to pay more taxes to keep up the town.

The Society urges all patriotic citizens to vote on election day, Nov. 7, for a constitutional convention, in order that the Legislature may be given power to regulate this matter. Its officers say that Massachusetts, Vermont, Connecticut and other states are ahead of us in this matter.

TAFT'S DOCTOR GIVES RECIPE FOR HAPPINESS

Chicago, Nov. 1.—The man who made ex-President William H. Taft slimmer, Dr. Charles E. Parker of Washington, gave the following recipe for happiness in an address here:

"Look on the bright side of every experience. Accept cheerfully the place in which you find yourself today. Throw your soul into your work. Do as many little kindnesses as possible each day. Maintain a child-like attitude of trust in your God."

"The rich, as a class, are the most unhappy people on earth because they think they can buy happiness, like a commodity on the market. Poor people frequently are happy, not because of their poverty, but because they have found the laws of happiness."

"Happiness does not depend upon externals at all. It is dependent upon laws that can be learned and obeyed."

An Open Letter to

Thomas W. Lawson Financier

Dear Mr. Lawson:

1. No man in this country realizes the value of enterprise more than you do. No one is more aggressive, forceful and fearless. I still recall, with pleasure, your vigorous advertising campaign in the American newspapers and the profound impression it created.

2. I want to create just such an impression with the LORD SALISBURY Cigarette. I've got the solution of the cigarette problem for all classes of people and if I can make the smokers see it, the work is done. After that the Lord Salisbury will take care of itself.

3. This Cigarette, Mr. Lawson, is the only 100% pure-all-Turkish-tobacco cigarette in existence that sells for as low as 15 cents for 20.

4. Hence the Lord Salisbury Cigarette is a big commercial and economic triumph because instead of interesting and benefitting only one class of people, it interests and benefits—and will prove desirable to all classes, and for that reason it is a mighty big thing.

5. And because it is of a very fine grade of pure Turkish tobacco and sells at a minimum price, it reduces the cost of a commodity which has become an undeniable necessity. To a man like you, to whom enterprise is an hourly thought, this means a great public benefit.

Cordially yours,

Ernest J. Goulston

Washington, Nov. 1.—Prospect of a nation-wide fuel shortage, through lack of freight cars was strengthened today by reports of the department of agriculture indicating less than half of the nation's crops have yet been moved to distributing centers.

The coming month will be the heaviest crop movement of the year, more than 15 per cent of all crops leaving the farm for the markets during this period.

When wheat and certain other grains have been rushed into the market this season earlier than ever before, in order to profit by prevailing high prices, officials here believe that certainly less than half the nation's crops have yet been moved.

Evidences of an unusually serious shortage of fuel accumulated today with reports from middle western and eastern industrial cities of actual suspension of activity through lack of fuel.

Factories in some cities have been forced to close their doors pending arrival of coal. Urgent appeals are Two Worthy Organizations.

If there are organizations in the world deserving of the fullest and most hearty support they are the societies for the prevention of cruelty to children and to animals. Children and animals are not in a position to protect themselves, and it is well that there are organizations prepared to step into the gap and close the bars against those elements of society that are inconsiderate of the rights of the helpless.

A recently issued report of the general agent of the society for the prevention of cruelty to children in one of the eastern states is full of interest. It shows that in the month of September alone work was finished on more than 300 cases and protection was given to nearly 1,000 children. There were many prosecutions and convictions and numerous parents were compelled to properly care for their children.

It is regrettable that there are conditions which make necessary such societies as those mentioned, but that that there are such conditions everybody knows. There are men and women who will neglect and abuse their children, and there are men who would treat dumb animals most inhumanely were they not restrained by the strong arm of the law. This is not true of the great majority. Most men and women are kindly disposed and neither children nor animals ever suffer cruelly at their hands, but, fortunately, there are persons so lacking in humane sentiment and feeling that any helpless being that comes under their sway is to be pitied.

Enforcing the laws against cruelty to children and animals is not a pleasant task. Those who perform this work are brought into disagreeable contact with an element of society that is to be more or less feared, but it is a work that needs to be done, and it is a blessed fact that there are men and women ready to do it. They stand constantly on guard for the protection of such as cannot protect themselves, and for this service they are entitled to the thanks and whole-hearted support of the community. They are entitled to moral support and financial support, and that this is so generously given is creditable to the men and women of America. The work of these two societies is wholly good and there must be no slackening of the effort to reduce the needless suffering of children and animals to the minimum in every nook and corner of this broad land.

It pays to keep firearms out of the reach of children. In Maine the other day a young woman who had been married only four days before was shot dead by a five-year-old boy who was a member of a party rambling in the fields. A shotgun was laid down by one of the party and the boy picked it up and shot the woman dead. This tragedy was not the fault of the boy. It was the fault of those whose carelessness rendered it possible for him to get hold of the gun.

Once this fall Senator Lodge of Massachusetts rode to an agricultural fair in an ox cart, and in New Bedford the other day he was tooted through the streets in a small whaleboat on a float. But in spite of these digressions from the usual he will probably return to the national capital by the ordinary mode of transportation.

Portsmouth voters understand now why Hon. Bert M. Fernald of Maine received such a large vote in Maine. He is a fine speaker with one of the most pleasing personalities that has ever graced the local political stage in this city. He will certainly make good as United States senator.

Prohibition is all right where a community sees fit to adopt it and is strong enough to enforce it, but when it comes to fining people for selling newspapers containing liquor advertisements it is getting down to pretty "small potatoes." And that is what is being done down in Mississippi.

Many automobileists continue to dispute the right of way with railroad trains at crossings, but it is a most foolhardy undertaking. The locomotive comes out ahead every time, leaving the autoists to close up the transaction with the aid of the coroner and the undertaker.

Candidate for Governor Henry W. Keyes will receive the vote of every Republican in the state and also many Democratic votes. He is one of the best men that the party has named for many years and will give a fine account of himself as governor.

Just why did any one think it necessary to use a half page in all of the Sunday papers to tell what a dutiful husband President Woodrow Wilson has been? Why this article at this time?

Maine potato growers are reported to be buying automobiles and without doubt the report is reliable. Furthermore a machine can be bought with fewer bushels than ever before in the history of automobiles or "spuds."

CURRENT OPINION

People of Japan Have No Desire to Make War Against United States.

Japan wants the integrity of China preserved. She fears that because of her weakness China may fall a prey to other nations and be dismembered. Japan wants trade in China to be free to everyone. I do not think there need be any fear of war between Japan and the United States. So many of us in both nations are working for peace, and if the question of the status of the Japanese in the United States is again the subject of negotiations between the two nations I think there will be no difficulty in settling the matter peacefully.

I think Japan would enter a league of nations to enforce peace if on investigation the plan was found practicable. The military party in Japan is not so strong.

I do not think the Japanese are paying any attention to the preparedness program of America or the present agitation here for a larger army and navy, nor do I think it has in any way influenced our policy.—By Baron Yoshiro Sakatani, Japanese Statesman.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Better Houses

(From the Boston Herald) One of the publications that month by month carry Boston's good name into other cities—the Architectural Review—is presenting some forty designs picked from a competition for a suburban house to cost, with garage, $10,000. The display is cheering. For the character prevailing in these assures the passing of those ill-schooled days when builders of houses costly enough to be called residences, yet cheap enough not to be called mansions, were proud of any structure; if only it was high-studded, windladed with plate glass and turban-topped with a mansard roof; or else was reminiscent of cottages with diamond-headed easements or of chateaux with towers, turrets and machicolations, due by jigsaw and painted in two colors.

We have a right to praise the early New England farmhouse, always honest, usually well proportioned, sometimes using a fine grace in well-placed ornament. We have a right to condone many a later residence that sought dignity by use of Greek nomenclature two stories high, or that sought ill-advised distinction from ill-suited Gothic detail. And we have no less a right to denounce, shame-facedly, nearly all the suburban and small town houses built from 1870 say, to 1897. For now, happily we are seeing their disorder or bohemia, their gracelessness or ostentation.

Of course, our modern house with roof and door for two or three families in common, are still problems, not much unsolved or profitably deferred. But the single house of modest cost, especially as built for owners' use, have lately been giving our suburbs and the quiet streets in our large towns an air that for a century past they had forgotten. Some of the smaller houses in brick, while following good English and Dutch traditions in bond and in balance, have as their own an American feeling that makes them models of their kind—trim, simple, substantial, interesting; to coin a word, they are home-houses. So, too, really colonial design in wood, with clapboard or rough-cast outside finish, has about killed the mock-colonial that sprang up everywhere twenty or thirty years ago. The prosperous men who used to build houses of pressed brick with putty joints or houses of wood with sunflower bosses in the gables and pink and orange glass in the two-leaved door, now have some who ask their architects what they have sketched, if not in Lancashire and Kent, at least in Salem and Deerfield, Richmond and Shirley. For this change to better ways in designing, no little credit falls to the handsome town-and-country magazine.

Why Not Advertise Religion?
(From the Concord Monitor)

Why should not religion be advertised? Dealers in all sorts of commodities, from standard oil to soothing syrup, are constantly spending huge sums for printers' ink. The better the commodity and the more wide spread its possible use, the greater the amount of money spent to tell people about it. No thoughtful person will seriously question that some sort of religion is necessary for every individual and still more for society. The methods of making this known and of explaining the differences between religions have lagged lamentably as compared with other forms of enterprise. To many people it was a questionable departure when charitable organizations began to advertise their work and solicit assistance, yet many of our papers and magazines carry whole pages of such advertising constantly.

There are in the United States today something over one hundred and fifty more or less important sects, each believing it has a brand of religion which individuals and society need. Why should not the general public, which has little time and less opportunity to study and know the respective merits of these organizations and their teachings, be told the facts in precisely the same way that they are told about other commodities which they need. It is not fair to the press to expect it to perform this valuable service without compensation, and indeed, the old saying of Josh Billings, "about the man that will work for nothing, just about earning his wages," applies here. The publicity that goes by favor or to meet the need of odd sellers in the less important pages is neither adequate nor dignified. Why should it not be a part of the recognized function of the various denominational bodies to conduct a campaign of publicity? Here and there, individuals or local organizations have done it with marked effect.

A couple of years ago, a public spirited citizen of Baltimore spent a good many thousand dollars carrying half page advertisements of religion in the leading paper of the city. These were written by such men as Vice President Marshall, Prof. Walter Rauschenbusch, Winston Churchill, the novelist, and Edwin Markham, the poet. It was the general verdict that they impressed the entire community with the importance and significance of the questions they discussed. Now the Universalists of Massachusetts have undertaken something along the same line, and set other denominations a commendable example of enterprise. In all the metropolitan dailies and in many other papers throughout the state appears a straightforward and dignified announcement of the fundamental teachings of the Universalist Church. It is a part of the campaign of Universalist Evangelism which this denomination has been carrying on for several years, and coupled with it is a co-operative effort among the Universalist Churches to make their particular contribution to the moral and spiritual life of the community better known and more widely understood. If all churches would do something of this sort, we should have a more intelligent understanding of the great fundamentals of religion, and they would more definitely and positively influence the life of the community.

Disease is a Disgrace
(From the Houston [Tex.] Post)

The discovery by the Houston found ation that laziness is a "disease and not a disgrace," is certainly something new under the sun. Just at this time the whole world is awakening to the fact that disease is the most disgraceful thing in life. It is the one thing that man is entirely responsible for and in whose ill effects all humanity shares.

If the human family would live decent, wholesome lives as the Makers planned them to do, and take the care of the body that common sense dictates, there would be no disease. It was intended that all should die of old age—not of malaria and typhoid and whooping cough and scarlet fever and auto-acidents and tuberculosis.

Disease, whatever the name by which it is known, is evidence that the laws of right living have been violated, and surely the violation of these laws is one of the most disgraceful things that man can be guilty of.

To see that the people of Houston do obey these laws of health is the main purpose of the Houston foundation. And when it shall succeed in that the expenditure of the people's money in its support will be justified.

Will Discuss Plans for the Three Hundredth Anniversary

The members are to celebrate the event at Plymouth in 1921 and the various churches are organizing for the event and on Friday a meeting will be held with Rev. Lucius H. Thayer.

The meeting here will be the gathering of the pastors of the old Piscataqua district which embraces all the churches from the lake region north to the Massachusetts line, and besides the pastors there will be two delegates. The meetings will be held at the North Church, Chapel, at 11 a. m. and 2 p. m., when addresses will be made by three secretaries of the National society. In the evening Charles D. Burton, secretary of the National Home Missionary Society, will give a talk on the plans and purposes.

PROHIBITION CANDIDATE WILL SPEAK IN THIS CITY

Ralph E. Meras of Exeter, Prohibition candidate for governor, will speak in this city on Saturday at 12:30 o'clock.

Mr. Meras has covered a large part of the state making addresses, sometimes accompanied by several well-known temperance advocates, but more often alone, using his little Ford truck as a speaking stand, sometimes having only a dozen for an audience. Then again, as at Franklin, speaking to a large audience surrounded by saloons, and licensed hotels. Mr. Meras' addresses have expressed sympathy for and anxiety to help, rather than condemning, either liquor dealers or their victims. Many times a hostile element was evident, but in every case quiet and expressions of approval were soon in evidence.

STILL MORE CONVERSATIONS AT THE SALVATION ARMY

Adj't. Lindstrom, the officer in charge of the Salvation Army's work in Dover, conducted the meeting at the Salvation Army hall last night and at the close of his address a big strong man of 47 years stood on his feet and said: "I was listening to you people on the street this evening and something within told me it was time for me to quit the life I was leading and I have come into your meeting for that purpose." He then made his way to the Army's altar and afterwards gave a testimony to this effect, "he was a new man." The good work of the Army goes on each night and conversations are being recorded rejoicing the hearts of the tireless salvationists.

OBITUARIES

William K. Hill.

The funeral services of William K. Hill were held at his late home at 11 o'clock, Thursday morning, and were largely attended. Rev. William P. Stanley of the Middle Street Baptist church officiated. Burial was in Sagamore cemetery under the direction of A. Thurston Parker. The pallbearers were ex-Mayor John W. Emery, Gustave Feyer, W. Herman Sides, Walter H. Page.

After announcing the sale, Mr. Lannin said that he intended to enter the hotel business in this city, where he already has large real estate holdings. He also is owner of a hotel in Garden City, L. I., and has a controlling interest in the Buffalo team of the International league.

Mr. Frazee's acquisition of a part ownership in the Red Sox club probably makes him the youngest baseball magnate in the country. He was born in Peoria, Ill., June 9, 1880, and managed the league club in that city when he was 21 years of age. Neither Mr. Frazee nor Mr. Ward has been connected with major league baseball before. Within the past few years Mr.

Frazee has entered into negotiations for the purchase of the New York, Chicago and Boston National league teams, but all of his deals fell through. Mr. Ward announced that he would make his home in this city.

It was announced late tonight that Joseph J. Lannin received $75,000 for his holdings.

Find House Afire in Five Places

Laconia, Nov. 2.—The police are investigating what appeared to be an incendiary fire that caused $6000 damages to the home of William A. Sanborn on Folsom street last evening.

The alarm came in at 7:40 p. m. and when the department arrived the house was on fire in five places, including the cellar, dining room, clothes closet in the sitting room, a bedroom on the first floor and an unfinished room on the second floor. Matches were found in the bedroom.

Mr. Sanborn is in Boston. Mrs. Sanborn said she left the house at about 7 o'clock and went down. She said that when she left everything was all right. The fire was discovered by a neighbor.

George Rivet Missing

Goffstown, Nov. 2—George Rivet, whose home is on the New Boston road, has disappeared.

He left home a week ago last Saturday with the intent of going to Nashua to pay the final instalment due on his farm. He has not been seen or heard from since, so far as his family can learn.

When he went away, Rivet is known to have had a sum estimated at from $120 to $250. For the past few years he has had charge of the state road between Manchester and the county farm.

Two Firemen Injured

Nashua, N. H., Nov. 2—A fire at 10:30 last night in a three-story frame building owned by Michael Russo at the corner of High and Harrison streets gutted the upper stories and caused a loss of $2000.

The upper floors were occupied by the family of Andrew Bonavitch, where the fire was thought by the authorities to have started. All members of the family escaped.

Firemen Arthur H. Brown of 7 Baldwin street and Arthur Haraby of 33 Bridge street were injured in fighting the fire and were taken to a hospital.

To the Voters of Ward Two:

I am a candidate for Representative in our Ward. I was born in Strafford County, educated at Bowdoin College and have lived in Rockingham County most of my life, being for ten years past a resident, taxpayer and voter in Portsmouth. I have been away a good deal in the service of the United States as Commissioner to foreign governments, and in Washington as Private Secretary to the Secretary of State. But I trust you have seen me about home enough to judge whether or not you want a man like me to help represent you at Concord. If you do, I hope you will not forget to look for my name on the ballot.

This action was taken by the commission as a part of its investigation of the alleged coal car shortage situation in Ohio, with relation to the high cost of coal.

1817 naval-building programmes. The limit of cost for the hull and machinery of the ships was fixed at $5,000,000. The Seattle company proposed to construct one ship within thirty months for $4,375,000.

The Fore River Shipbuilding Corporation of Quincy, Mass., was the only other company to submit figures. Under a very modified contract form the company proposed to build one ship in thirty-three months and one in thirty-six months at a cost of $4,000,000 each. In each case, however, the company based its proposal upon the acceptance by the Navy Department of a plan by which fluctuations in prices of material or labor would be figured, the Federal Trade Commission deciding any question.

The Union Iron Works of San Francisco proposed to construct two ships on the basis of cost plus fifteen percent profit and the Fore River Company, with which the Union Iron Works is allied, submitted a similar alternative proposal.

A third proposal by the Fore River Company had in view the arrangement of a sliding scale by which profit would be figured under which it would be both to the interest of the contractor and the Government to reduce the actual cost of construction.

The Fore River Company further noted that if it secured contracts for the construction of either battleships or battle cruisers of the 1917 program, it would be unable to undertake construction of scout cruisers.

The New York Shipbuilding Company was unable to get its estimates within the $5,000,000 limit set by Congress.

Bids for armor for four battleships and four battle cruisers also were opened. Prices for the bulk of the order ranged from $120 a ton by the Bethlehem Company to $127 a ton by the Miyake.

The Carnegie Company said that for armor for two battleships and one battle cruiser the entire capacity of its armor plant would be taken up for two years.

The scout cruisers are the first vessels of their type to be designed for the navy. They are to make thirty-five knots an hour sustained speed and to extend the field of daylight operation; each will carry four high-power hydro-airplanes, which can be launched at sea in any weather by means of a catapult device perfected by navy engineers. The theory of naval experts is that the scout cruisers can run in front of a battle fleet over night, reaching a distance of seven miles. From each scout aircraft will be launched to spread fanwise over the sea for another 100 miles or so, making it virtually certain that no enemy can come within 400 or 500 miles of the main fleet without his movement having been observed.

The submarines are substantially the same as the O-boats now under construction, and are designed for coast and harbor defense. The department is experimenting in larger boats ranging from 800 up to 1,100 tons displacement for service with the fleet. The big submarine Schley will be the first of the sea-going craft to enter the service.

CHILD GETS SICK CROSS, FEVERISH IF CONSTIPATED

"California Syrup of Figs" can't harm tender stomach or bowels.

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish; stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is oftentimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 10-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

HIPPODROME GAYER THAN EVER

The Hippodrome, where Charles Dungham's joyous pageant of varied delights "The Big Show" holds its merry sway, the 100th performance was encountered this past week with more gaiety than ever. The opening of the skating season, a traditional European custom always observed at St. Moritz and other skating centers abroad on October 26th, was observed at the big playhouse this past week with a complete change of solo numbers by the exquisite stars of the steel runners in "The Merry Doll." Anna Pavlova, as is her custom, presents new solos at regular intervals and this

FOOD SOURING IN STOMACH CAUSES INDIGESTION, GAS

"Pape's Diapepsin" ends all stomach distress in five minutes.

Wonder what upsets your stomach— which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; head dizzy and aches; belch gases and holds and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

MILLIONS of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.

Coming week for the Halloween season she will be seen. In an entire change of costume as well, as Leon Bakst has submitted a second set of costume plates for the incomparable dancer's use. Everything about the Hippodrome is bright, cheerful and delightful and its current attraction is voted the best and biggest in its history. Matinees are given daily.

BOSTON LETTER

Boston, Nov. 2.—A great torchlight parade in the interests of Charles Evans Hughes and the state Republican slate and a monster Democratic banquet tonight are the closing features of the national and state campaigns in this city this week. Mayor James Al. Curley is at the head of the big banquet arrangements for tonight when 1,100 Democratic candidates and active workers of the party sit down to a big spread in the East Armory. The slogan of the banquet is "60,000 votes in Boston for Wilson and Mansfield." The guests include Representative and Senatorial nominees in Boston, all the Democratic candidates for the major state offices and members of the Democratic city committee. The Republican state committee announces that over 10,000 voters have been enrolled as marchers in the big Hughes torchlight parade tomorrow night. The committee has enrolled fifteen bands to furnish music for the marchers and expect the demonstration to be the biggest held in Boston in many years. The Hughes parade will start at 7:30 p.m. in Arlington and Beacon streets. The route will be from Beacon to Charles, to Boylston, to Tremont, to Scollay Square to Washington, as far as Elliot and thence to Park Square. The Boston wool trade voted to have 800 men in line. Governor McCull, Governor Coolidge, Senators Lodge and Weeks, and other state candidates will review the parade. There will be a number of illuminated floats depicting various features of the national campaign.

The $30,000 worth of new dimes that were put in circulation in this city may all be recalled by the officials at the Philadelphia mint. No sooner were they put into circulation than it was discovered they bore the initials of the designer, A. Weinman. This name "A. W." is causing some talk in Washington, as it is an unwritten law that no advertising shall appear on United States coins. The Lincoln penny which also bore the designer's initials when it was first put out, was recalled for the same purpose. Hundreds of persons hurried to the office of the sub-treasury to get one or more of the new coins. These coins, if they are recalled, will be of special value to coin collectors.

It is one reason why C. E. The new package of Abbey's which can now be obtained at your druggist's is larger and better than ever, but at the same old price. Start taking it today and see how much better and brighter you will feel tomorrow.

Mayor Curley has changed his mind about allowing the theaters to remain open all night Tuesday to give their patrons election returns. When the theatrical managers first applied for this permission, the mayor, turned them down. He later discovered, however, that Mayor Fitzgerald set the precedent four years ago. He at once changed his order and the theaters will be open all night.

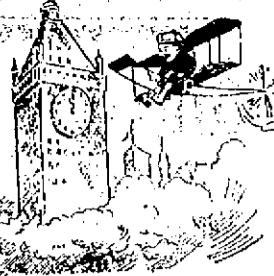

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 1.—Jose Diaz, said to be a naturalized American citizen, was executed at Parral Oct. 23, at the order of General Luis Herrera, the Carranza commandant, according to the statement yesterday of his wife.

Mrs. Diaz said she accompanied her husband to Parral to visit his relatives. Her story is that he was arrested the afternoon of their arrival and put to death that night on the charge of being a Legalist, despite his plea for a delay in order to prove his American citizenship. District Court records here show that a Mexican named Jose Diaz received final citizenship papers in 1912.

DEAN HASKINS AND PROFESSOR COOLIDGE GAVE OUT STATEMENTS OF REASON FOR SHIFTING

Boston, Nov. 1.—Two statements from Harvard professors to the National Hughes Alliance were made public today. One is from Charles H. Haskins, Dean of the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, who voted for Wilson in 1912, and the other from Archibald Cary Coolidge, professor of History and Director of the Harvard Library.

Both statements give pungent, clear-cut reasons why their writers are going to vote for Hughes. Dean Haskins says:

"As a Progressive, I have decided to support Mr. Hughes because his record in public office shows that he can be counted on to stand firmly and fearlessly for an independent and vigorous administration and for a wise policy in public affairs. By his own weak and temporizing policy in critical matters of our foreign relations and by the incompetence and partisanship of many of his immediate advisers, both official and unofficial, President Wilson has undermined and discredited the moral influence of the United States and brought it into a position of weakness and danger before the world.

The most pressing problems of the next four years are international, and in such matters the Democratic party has not shown understanding, vision or even ordinary capacity. It has always been the party of localism and provincialism, and the history of the present administration shows that it cannot wisely be trusted with the conduct of foreign affairs and the related issues of internal preparedness and governmental efficiency. President Wilson's humiliating surrender of the principle of arbitration in labor disputes is also, in my opinion, decisive reason against his reelection.

"Safety first" is a degrading national motto, and a party should be repudiated which can find no better statement of its principles and achievements. "Duty first" should be America's watchword."

Charles H. Haskins, Professor Coolidge's statement follows:

"It is hardly too much to ask if there is another nation in the world that regards our own with as much good will and esteem as it did ten years ago. For this change I believe the present administration to be in no small measure responsible. From my own conviction and in accordance with a decent respect to the opinion of mankind, I shall vote for Mr. Hughes.

Archibald Cary Coolidge.

LEARN NAME OF WOMAN IN SHAWMUT BANK CASE

Boston, Nov. 1.—No longer groping in the dark in their hunt for the National Shawmut Bank messenger and his female accomplice who got away with $20,000 of the institution's cash and negotiable securities, the detectives at work on the case today announced that they have succeeded in learning the real identity of the young man and his confederate and the detectives' activities have now narrowed down to a clean-out chase for the missing pair.

The woman is said to be young and attractive, and "the cleverest crook since Sophie Lyons," who baffled the greatest detectives in the country through the '70s.

Beyond doubt, they declare, the plot to steal the money and securities was a product of the woman's brain, the young man simply fulfilling the role to which she assigned him.

The haunts of the woman are known and Sherman agency operators are working with this new information in their hands, with renewed vigor.

Other cities and towns, the detectives say, have witnessed successful operations of this woman, who has a variety of the cleverest "games" known to crookdom in her repertoire. Despite her many successes, she has fallen into the law's clutches more than once, and already has a prison record marked against her name, though she is barely 30 years of age.

Her good looks and cultured manner, her abundance of costly clothes, including dazzling evening gowns, made it easy for her to become acquainted with wealthy men and women whom she could victimize, the detective agency declares. Though she might be described as "plump" she has an excellent figure, is about 5 ft. 4 in. tall and weighs about 130 pounds. Her hair is dark brown, almost black.

In the opinion of the detectives, the pair will try to sell the securities at a moderate reduction from their actual value, with a "story" of the need of immediate cash which necessitates the sacrifice.

A clue just discovered regarding the young man which might lead to his betrayal is the knowledge of his appetite for a certain brand of cigarettes a southern make. It is declared he smokes the brand exclusively and indiscriminately.

The robbery occurred five days ago, and until today the detective agencies handling the mystery have been baffled.

The securities were 20 bonds of the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern railway, $1000 gold certificates.

The messenger who gave the name of Edward Thorek when engaged by the bank, has been known as Thorek and by other names. He has rented rooms in various places in Boston, it is learned, including lodgings houses in Dundee street and Shawmut Avenue. One of the recommendations furnished by him when he took the position was from another Boston bank.

Little doubt is expressed but that the pair departed from the city immediately after the coup was effected.

NAVY DEPARTMENT PLANNING REPAIRS
ON "OLD IRONSIDES"

HAS NOT BEEN DRYDOCKED
SINCE 1858 AND OFFICIALS
REALIZE THAT IT WILL RE-QUIRE CAREFUL ENGIN-EERING.

Preliminary plans for the docking and repairing of the old frigate Constitution are being discussed at the Charlestown navy yard.

In the last naval bill an appropriation was made for repairing the old ship and, to complete the repairs, it will be necessary to put the boat in drydock. Several years ago the ship was repaired at the yard as far as the water line, and it was feared at that time that the craft would not stand much strain. The repairs were completed, however, without accident. It is intended now to put a new bottom in her.

The work of docking will not be done until spring as both drydocks will be occupied by other ships until January and possibly later. The new bottom will have to be made of this winter's cut timber, which is another reason for delaying docking.

It is admitted at the yard that the work of docking the ship will be a delicate one. It is the intention of the hull department to put the timber for the bottom together in the shops.

The last time the old frigate was docked was in 1858, but it has been greatly changed in appearance since then.

EDITORIAL.

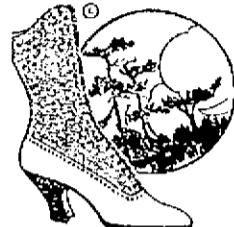

Though we are not yet ready to agree with manufacturers who say that a year from now no good leather shoes will be available under $10 a pair, it is unquestionably true that good leather is scarce and prices are rapidly rising.

We feel it worthy of note that in spite of present conditions we have been able to gather a stock of Footwear fashions which we have never surpassed and hardly ever equaled.

Also this is an opportune time to suggest that in footwear which has "cheapness" for its keynote, the purchaser is sure to get all that he bargains for.

Among people of sound principles and experience, the word "cheap" has been entirely eliminated with reference to dependable footwear. It has been tried and found scarcely wanting.

The news of the sad death of Dorothy Bernice Fogg, in last evening's Herald, at the age of 15 years caused deep regret among a large circle of school and church friends. She had undergone two serious operations and was about to have the third when death claimed her. She was the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Fogg of Richards avenue and she is survived by her parents and a brother and sister. She was a popular member of the freshman class of the high school and the North Church Sunday school. She was an artiste and had bright prospects of a fine career. Her death will be mourned by many and her parents have the deepest sympathy of a large circle of acquaintances.

NAVY WANTS TO LOCATE U-BOATS
AT PORTSMOUTHWill Send Six and a Tender If Yard Can Provide for Them.

The navy department is considering the plan of assigning a division of six submarines and a tender to the Portsmouth navy yard, providing the yard can furnish berthing and charging facilities for the submarines.

If the Portsmouth yard can repair these U-boats without shifting them from one berth to another to make room for other vessels, it is likely the fleet will be assigned here. The bureau at Washington has asked for available space where sheds of light construction can be erected for use of submarines while overhauling. It will also be necessary for permanent electric cables and pipe lines to the berths of the U-boats so that the storage batteries can be charged. Portsmouth yard is requested to figure on the cost of arrangement and equipment necessary to care for the under-water craft and tender.

In order to be considered in the proposition, the local station will have to work quiet as the matter is very urgent. It is the opinion of some of the officers who head the departments and of the yard workmen that the fleet can be taken care of here and that either the back channel, old Franklin shiphouse or the wooden dry dock basin could be utilized for the purpose with a small expense.
